SOCIETY FOR THE PREVENTION OF CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.

INAUGURAL MEETING.

The inaugural meeting of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals was held yesterday afternoon in the City Hall, H.E. the Governor, who was accompanied by Lady Blake, presiding. The meeting was fairly largely attended.

In proposing the first resolution on the paper, His Excellency explained the objects of the meeting, and said the formation of such a Society in Hongkong had not come a day too soon. He referred to cases of cruelty to animals that had come under his own notice, where horses, cattle, and fowls were made the victims of unnecessary suffering, and expressed the conviction that carelessness or thoughtlessness on the part of the people inflicting that suffering had a great deal to do with it. He quoted an instance that occurred once in the West Indies, where, riding along the road one day, he saw an old negro woman carrying some fowls to the market by their legs with their heads hanging down. He stopped the old woman and said to her—“That is a cruel thing to do; how would you like, my good lady, if I took you up by the feet and carried you that way for two or three miles?” She appeared outraged at the idea, but carried the fowls properly after that. She simply had not thought about it. In the same way there was a complaint here recently about gross cruelty to a pony, which had been driven about all day and at last dropped and nearly died; it was possible that there the Chinese thought as little about that pony as the Governor, whom Mr. Leitch was fond of caricaturing in the pages of Punch years ago, thought about his horse. When told that the animal might be driven for thirty miles but could not possibly be driven for six, he answered—“It is all right; I have brought two whips.” In most of these cases it was probable that the cruelty was the result of unfeeling thoughtlessness rather than deliberate brutality. The purpose of the Society was to stimulate the susceptibilities of these thoughtless persons and bring before them appreciation of the fact that God, who had laid upon all animals the capacity to suffer, had planted in the human breast the seeds of sympathy, and pity, and mercy, and without cultivation of these qualities, a man, or woman, however successful or high or mighty, was but a poor creature whose mind had been deformed by neglect or abuse. As Shakespeare had said in his beautiful lines—“Mercy is an attribute to God himself.” His Excellency, whose remarks were received with applause, then read the following resolution standing in the name of the Society: “That it is desirable to form a Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in Hongkong, and it be now resolved that such a Society be hereby formed under the name of ‘The Hongkong Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.’”

Mr. E. A. Hewitt seconded, and said:—Your Excellency, Lady Blake, ladies and gentlemen. As it has fallen to me to second the first resolution proposed by His Excellency the Governor, I trust I may be permitted on behalf of those here present to express to His Excellency the appreciation we feel at the interest he has shown in this movement and our thanks for his accepting the presidency of our new society and for agreeing to reside at this our inaugural meeting. While thanking His Excellency for the support he has given us, if we come to think of it, only feeling that the representative of His Majesty should take the lead in such a movement, for as we all know His Majesty for many years was closely connected with similar societies in England, and to mention one instance only recently made a firm stand against the docking of horses. His place is now being worthily filled by H. R. H. the Prince of Wales. It is perhaps only right that I should further remind you of the very great interest our gracious Queen has so consistently evinced in everything relating to the human treatment of animals and how she was, many years ago, among the first to discourage pigeon shooting matches. In seconding the resolution therefore proposed by His Excellency I trust I may be allowed to express the hope that before long we may succeed in obtaining the necessary permission to add the word “Royal” to the name of our Society and that our Society may then be known as the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. As to the need for such a Society as this being formed in Hongkong, I fear there cannot but be one opinion and that is that it is very badly required. While we must give full credit to what is done by the Police and other Authorities towards putting down individual cases of cruelty, we know that by themselves they cannot do all that is required to stop a stop to the great and entirely unnecessary cruelty to which so large a number of dumb creatures is daily subjected. I will indicate a few instances of this. A trade in cattle, even at the best, must result in much suffering to poor beasts, and the trade here of both cattle and pigs is no exception to this rule. During the past few days I have been informed that “drenching” is universally practised at the cattle sheds, this I need hardly point out is not only a fraud on those purchasing cattle but results in considerable suffering to the unfortunate animal. While the new act now before the Legislature will go far towards ameliorating the condition of the animals when it becomes law, an act by itself is not sufficient, constant supervision is necessary to see the provisions of the act are observed. In this matter the Society might render valuable assistance. The overcrowding of birds in baskets, imported and provided with food and water as already stated by His Excellency is another requiring attention although I freely admit that the Market Inspectors and others have of recent years effected considerable improvements on the former condition of affairs. The bird and dog shops while also better controlled than formerly still require constant supervision in order to prevent suffering to their unfortunate stock in trade; as do also the public livery stables. It is, however, when we come to the actual killing of animals for food that the greatest cruelty is discovered. One matter which I think we should direct our attention is the proper poleaxing of all cattle, and that all water buffaloes should be shot. I believe I am correct in saying that there is not a single proper poleaxe in the Colony. I also consider that so far as possible all slaughter houses on the mainland should be placed under European supervision; as is well known the Chinese through callousness or more likely ignorance inflict at times great suffering while killing animals. I could give a number of instances of which I have personal knowledge were it necessary to do so. With regard to the killing of birds here again unfortunately great cruelty is often practised chiefly in plucking birds alive or in plunging them into scalding water after their throats have been cut but before the miserable creatures are dead. Some of the instances referred to are those which might well receive the attention of the Committee, in others we must trust to the care of individual householders to put a stop to such cases of cruelty. At first at all events we propose to carry on the work of the Society with unpaid labour, later on it may be found desirable to employ paid inspectors and possibly a paid Secretary should the increase in the work of the Society prove this necessary. The aims of the Society are set forth in another resolution and it only therefore is necessary to have state that our idea is largely educational both among the Chinese and also the children of the Colony. I trust therefore that our suggestions on this subject will receive the earnest consideration of those engaged in educational work in Hongkong and I would add that I hope later on we may see our way to offering prizes for the best essays bearing on the question of kindness to animals to be competed for by children in the various educational establishments. Another point which I think might be considered is the establishment, in co-operation with the Police, of a home for lost dogs and cats, in fact an extension might be arranged of the existing establishment already maintained by the police for stray dogs. With regard to cases of individual acts of cruelty the existing law provides certain degrees of punishment, but in really wanton cases, such as the burning alive of rats or killing them in cages by slowly pouring boiling water on them (a favourite pastime of native servants) I would venture to suggest that mere imprisonment does not meet the case. People who are guilty of such acts are more easily appealed to physically, or through their pity, and for one would like to see the law amended. Gross cases of cruelty should, in my opinion, be treated as acts of robbery with violence, and the Courts should consider in such cases be empowered to inflict heavier fines, coupled at discretion, with corporal punishment. In the case of an animal being injured (such as for instance a horse which is lame) but capable of being cured, under suitable care until its recovery be effected, the expenses incurred to be borne by those responsible for its condition. With these remarks I have much pleasure in seconding the resolution proposed by His Excellency.

The Hon. Mr. Justice supported the resolution which was carried unanimously. The Hon. Mr. Justice proposed the second resolution as follows:—“The purpose of the Society is to encourage by every possible means the promotion of humanitarianism towards Animals. (a) The members of the Society will do all in their power to put a stop to cruelty to animals by individual effort. (b) They will use their best endeavours to teach the true meaning of kindness to animals to all with whom they are brought into contact and to educate children in these views; to which end they would suggest the introduction of books bearing on this subject into the schools of the Colony. (c) It is further proposed to gain this object as regards the Chinese by the translation and circulation of suitable literature amongst them.” The Bishop said he was glad to hear that the chief object of the Society was to be educational, and for that reason he was glad that the resolution had been put into his hands, because the method advocated by that resolution was that the education. His firm conviction was that the Chinese were not a cruel people, and while one found cases of cruelty these things were only owing to ignorance. The conditions under which the Chinese of the poor class lived tended to promote thoughtlessness with regard to the treatment of their animals and fowls, and the proper way to teach them kindness was by educational means rather than prosecutions. If these people were to be taught to be humane towards animals, we must set the example by being humane to our fellow-men, for nothing tended so much to brutalise a man as to be treated like a brute himself. (Hear, hear.) Only the other day he had seen a man flag a rickshaw coolie most severely with a cane, and whilst on that point he should like to see a good many of the canes carried about the streets in the hands of officials and semi-officials quietly put in the fire. If we tried to teach our fellow-men to be humane, kindness towards them would be more likely to lead to gentle treatment towards animals on their part. Mr. E. H. Sharp, K. C., seconded the resolution. He also instanced acts of cruelty that the Society would be called upon to prevent, but said that most of the work of the Society would arise in connection with cruelties occurring during the carriage of animals to Hongkong. To illustrate what his point was, Mr. Sharp referred to the transport of cattle on the West River, where on board ship many of them, tied up by the noses to keep them from lying down, collapsed—with results better left to the imagination than described. It was for the suppression of such acts of cruelty as these that the Society was proposed to be founded.

Rev. C. Hickling supported the resolution, and said that if the example of His Excellency in the West Indies were more generally followed here it might do a great deal towards securing better treatment for the dumb creation. Referring to the case quoted by His Lordship the Bishop of a man caning a rickshaw coolie, His Excellency said that a man who used violence where he expected to be hit back might be called brutal and cruel, but a man who used violence when he knew he would not be hit back was a contemptible coward. (Applause.) Bishop Hoare said he did not want it to be understood that he considered the caning of coolies to be a practice, but the cane was frequently used when it ought not to be. The resolution was put to the meeting and carried without dissent.

On the motion of His Excellency, seconded by Commodore Robinson, it was decided to request the following to form the first Committee of the Society:—President, H. E. Sir Henry A. Blake, G.C.M.G.; Vice-Presidents, H. E. Major-General Sir W. J. Gascoigne, K.C.M.G., the Bishop of Victoria, and the Rt. Rev. L. M. Pizzoli, Bishop of Caxton. General Committee:—Hon. Dr. J. M. Atkinson, Hon. Sir C. Paul Chater, C.M.G., Hon. C. W. Dickson, Hon. F. H. May, C.M.G., Hon. Wei A. Yuet, and Messrs. D. Clarke, A. Gibson, E. A. Hewitt, Rev. C. H. Hickling, Ho Tung, M. S. Northcott (Hon. Secretary), A. J. Raymond, C. H. Ross, E. H. Sharp, K. C., N. A. Siebs, J. R. M. Smith, C. A. Tomes, H. C. Wilcox (Hon. Treasurer). The Committee to have power to add to their number and to appoint a Sub-Committee as may be found necessary.

It was proposed by His Excellency, seconded by Mr. A. J. Raymond, and carried unanimously that “The Committee are hereby empowered to make such regulations and bye-laws as may from time to time be found advisable.” His Excellency next proposed “That the annual subscription be £2 for adults and fifty cents for children under 16 years of age, the Committee to have power to change the amount of the annual subscription if found necessary.” Mr. R. C. Wilcox seconded the motion, which was carried.

The last motion on the paper was also made by His Excellency as follows:—“That a public meeting of the Society be held at least once a year at which a report of the working of the Society during the preceding year be presented by the Committee and an account of the funds of the Society be rendered.” Rev. C. H. Hickling seconded the proposal, which was carried nem. dis. This was all the business. A meeting of the Committee was held immediately afterwards.

WHOSE FAULT IS IT? The world is full of disease and pain. Whose fault is it? Everybody's; therefore often the fault of the sufferers themselves. But the pressing question is,—what to do, how to relieve, how to cure. What would become of us if means were not found to destroy disease? Why, of the course, disease would destroy us and the world would be depopulated. Until we learn how to prevent disease, we must be thankful for the means of relieving and curing it after it has seized upon us, and stands, like a savage with uplifted axe, ready to take our lives. Especially do we need some sure and speedy form of treatment for those complaints which are universal, which arise in every country and climate, and ravage poor humanity at all seasons of the year. We allude to such ailments as Nervous and General Debility, Hysteria, Scrofula, Chronic Diarrhoea, Asthma, Throat and Lung Complaints, Blood Impurities, and the ills of women and children. For these

You may almost say that it is life itself embodied in a single article made by human hands. Dr. J. L. It is of special value in nervous prostration and depraved nutrition. It stimulates the appetite and the digestion, promotes assimilation, and enters directly into the circulation with the food. I consider it a marvelous success in medicine.” Every dose effective. “You cannot be disappointed in it.” Sold by chemists here and throughout the world and A. S. Watson & Co., Limited.

FAMINE RELIEF WORK AND METHODS.

At the close of the famine work in Kwangsi a word about the methods employed will not be out of place. There are three ways in which the rice may be distributed; upon the first almost all are agreed, but upon the second and third there are some differences of opinion. First—There is what is called the "General Distribution" method. This is usually employed at the beginning of the famine when it is generally conceded that all are in need of help. The work of the committee then consists in giving out indiscriminately two or ten cattles of rice to all who have secured tickets at the door. This is perhaps the easiest method for the foreigner, but it is always accompanied by great crowds which sometimes become riotous, unruly, and dangerous to themselves. Loafers and other unworthy fellows get in, and, like all other such men in a crowd, are ready for some fun. They push, jam, and crush the weak and starving who are injured and sometimes killed. Women are as much to blame as men. In the recent Famine Relief, Monday, July 13th, was "Woman's Day" at Kwai Peng. It is estimated that 40,000 came in with their babies and children for rice. The crowd could not be controlled and in the jam 23 were killed, of whom 5 were babies crushed to death on the backs of their mothers. When the immediate has been cared for, the second or third method is employed. Second.—This is a general distribution through "the Gentry." In this case the object is to reach the village elders who are either seen in their own villages or called in to the distributing centre. They furnish the committee with a list of names which they say includes all the needy in the village. The names are counted and a certain number of cattles, say ten, is allowed each person. The elders are then given a ticket for the total amount which they arrange to take delivery of upon the next day of distribution or upon the same day if rice is being distributed. There are several serious objections to this method. (a.) The crowds are about the same as in the "General Distribution", and consequently accompanied with fatalities which should be avoided if possible. (b.) It has been found upon investigation that the elders frequently "squeeze" a certain amount of the rice from the poor villagers. (c.) The elders usually draw clan lines very closely. In a case that was brought to light they had included their relatives only, and the most needy people in the village had not received a grain of rice. (d.) Fictitious names, as well as names from other villages, are often included in the lists. Thus they are again 'able to make a "squeeze". (e.) Many people are thus kept from starving to death, but we fear that the majority of the famine sufferers are not reached. Third.—"House to House Visitation." By this method many of the objections to the distribution through "the Gentry" are met. It is the hardest work, but gives the most satisfactory results. An old missioner in China, who has eaten more salt fish and rice and has talked less about it than some others, recently remarked upon his return from several weeks' work in the famine districts, that in pursuance of this method he had found his hardest work yet in China. This visitation work consists in hunting out every needy family in a village, asking a few general questions about their condition, taking nothing for granted, and then instituting a search, if help is asked for, of their homes. This search is executed with as much thoroughness as if the almoner were an officer with a warrant; boxes, jars, pots, cooking utensils, and whatever suspected of containing food stuffs are examined. Yet in spite of all vigilance deception is sometimes successful. The distributors have been met on the road by people who kowtowed at their feet and begged for help, claiming that they had nothing to eat, and yet upon following them home and examining their houses it was found that they had harvested their rice and provision had been made for the months preceding the next harvest. Sometimes in the search tobacco was found that had been purchased with money that should have gone for food. Although they were severely criticised for this it may have helped them as it did the poor student, who finding himself in need of food wrote to some one for assistance. His benefactor enclosed a penny in a letter advising him to buy some tobacco which he should smoke and therein find contentment. It is a remarkable fact that in all these famine-stricken homes there was no tea to offer the visitor. A Chinese home which cannot afford tea is certainly poor indeed. Many apologies were made for not having tea, and rice water was set out instead. By "House to House Visitation" it is made possible not only to sift out the suffering families of a village, but also to determine which sections of the district will need further help. Again, by this method the distribution of rice can be carried on simultaneously with the giving out of tickets. To do this the foreigner secures some reliable Chinese, whom he coaches up on the Arabic numerals, to weigh out the rice as the people call for it with their tickets. As the people usually went at once upon receipt of their tickets to the centre of distribution for the rice, large crowds were avoided. The tickets, made of a good quality of coloured and white foreign cardboard, were about 3 inches long by 3/4 of an inch wide. They always contained the number of cattles of rice stated in figures and words. The attempts to raise the figures were unsuccessful. With the use of a cardboard that could not be obtained in the districts and the foreign characters it was very difficult for the Chinese to produce counterfeits. These fraudulent means of getting rice were all detected. A third point in favour of this method is that a larger number of villages can be reached. The foreigner who is doing the visitation work need not return to the city at the close of his day's work, but may stop for the night wherever darkness or fatigue overtake him. Thus he does not have to cover the same ground the next morning in getting out into the country. He continues his work further and further away from the centre of distribution. A fourth point is that the local gentry do not like it, and in some cases have taken active measures against it. In one case they circulated the report that the foreigners were not giving full weight. They advised the people to bring in their rice to be re-weighed. The rice worked and the elders took one catty out of every ten for their trouble. It was fortunate for the poor people that they had received "a generous measure, pressed tight, shaken down, and running over."

It is reported, says the American Asiatic, that the Harriman interests will enter into competition with the China Commercial S.S. Co. in the transport of coolies to Mexico. The Terra Nova, the relief steamer (Captain H. Mackay), sail in a month, via Suez Canal, and she will join the Morning at Hobart.

THE Universal Gazette gathers that in connection with the sinking of the Chinese cruiser Huanan by the Empress of India near Amoy, Viceroy Tsen of Lian Kwang, for whom the gunboat was transporting troops, arms, etc., is of the opinion that the fault was entirely on the part of the mailboat, therefore he has requested Viceroy Wei of Nanking to instruct Yuan Taotai of this Port to engage counsel and sue the agents of the company to which the Empress of India belongs for damages.

WE (Shanghai Mercury) learn that after nearly a week's discussion by the members of the Shanghai Consular Body, to which the so-called Supao case was remitted by the Corps Diplomatique at Peking, as mentioned by us last week, they have been unable to reach any decision. It appears that each of the Consuls now has definite instructions from his home government, and as the local Chinese authorities absolutely refuse to come to any arrangement, on the ground that the matter on the Chinese side is in the hands of Peking, no compromise has been possible, consequently the whole matter has again been referred to the Ministers at Peking—where we certainly think it rightly belongs at this stage.

QUITE one of the old time dinners was enjoyed by over thirty friends of Mr. R. E. Toeg on Thursday evening last, the occasion being the anniversary of his wedding. The event took place in the Grand Stand, Shanghai, and was very greatly enjoyed by all present. As the host stated, he looked upon the dinner as his annual picnic, and there was just that "free and easy" feeling enjoyed by all present that made matters "hum." Mr. Bredon in kindly terms referred to the host and this celebration of his "tin" wedding. Congratulations from all present followed, and a telegram signed by all was despatched to Mrs. Toeg, who is at present at Wei-hai-wei. Toasts and speeches followed in quick succession; in fact, hardly a "member of the board" escaped having to get upon his hind legs and say a few words. Notable among the speakers were the host himself, Mr. Bredon, Mr. Brodie Clarke, Mr. James McKie, Mr. Willis E. Gray, Mr. Ellis, Mr. Platt and Mr. John Liddell. Mr. Satow arrived at a late hour and took a flash-light photograph.—Sport and Gossip.

The minor portion of the work will be started at once, while the main hall will not be touched until next year, but the whole work must be finished within one year.

DR. H. G. Outram Collett, physician on the steamer Yuengsang, died suddenly last evening from heart failure while on duty on board the vessel, says the Manila Times of the 19th inst. The death was reported to the health authorities and the remains were at once removed to Dell's undertaking parlors. The interment took place at the English Cemetery in San Pedro Macati. Deceased was well known in shipping circles and had many friends in this city.

ADVICES from Honolulu report that the tug Counselman has put in a salvage claim of $40,000 against the C. C. CROWN LAND SALE.

A site, R. B. L. No. 117, containing 12,800 square feet, on Mount Kellett, the Peak, has been applied for and will be put up for sale by public auction on the 14th prox. at 3 p.m., at the offices of the P. W. D. The lot is a rectangular one, being eighty feet by one hundred and sixty feet. The purchaser has to spend not less than $10,000 in rateable improvements on the lot. A right of way from the Mount Kellett Road to the lot, on line approved by the Director of Public Works, will be granted to the purchaser, who is required to construct substantial retaining walls where necessary along the northern, southern and western boundaries of the property to prevent landslides, in the event of his cutting away the hill to level the site.

THE PRICE OF SILVER.

At the thirty-sixth ordinary general meeting of the shareholders of the Bank of Bombay held on the 6th inst. at the Bank premises, Elphinstone Circle, Bombay, Mr. William Greaves presiding, after alluding to the absorption of gold by the Currency Department and the probable value of from five to six crores which must have found its way into the hands of the people, not, however, as a means of circulation, the chairman thus referred to the price of silver. The average net importation of silver is valued at about Rs. 7 crores. Almost all this silver must have been absorbed by the internal markets, for it is well known that no appreciable portion of the metal remains in the import ports beyond a very limited time. The price of the metal ran down to a very low level it will be remembered, and no doubt the low price stimulated buying; but this point should be remembered because if the opportunity occurs again the same effect will be produced. The value of the net gold and silver imports for the year ending 31st March may be regarded as phenomenal coming so soon after the disastrous time of the last few years. To return to the gold taken up by the Currency Department, you may have noticed that the honourable the Finance Member of the Government of India drew attention in his last Budget statement to the effect on the Department. He said our currency balances have naturally been strongly affected by the bullion importations and demands for rupees, and our reserve of Silver coin fell Rs. 15,55,66,000 on November 30, to Rs. 9,01,73,000 on February 22; whilst the amount of gold held increased during the same period from $5,801,189 to $3,461,599. The stocks of both Silver and Gold have, however, since increased, the former to Rs. 9,90,90,000 and the latter to $9,000,000 on 7th March. The effect, however, was very different from that produced in 1900-01, by somewhat similar, if larger, imports of Gold. At that time Government were obliged to coin fresh rupees to an enormous extent. On this occasion the effect was only to reduce the silver reserve to a threatening point, which led Government to act in so far as they purchased a small quantity of silver early this year as a precautionary measure. Silver, however, immediately afterwards began to return to the Department, gold imports fell off, and no further action was apparently taken. On the former occasion Government had to coin fresh rupees largely. Then the usual course of events was interrupted by severe famine and Government were obliged to distribute large sums in relief. Fortunately during the past year the country has been free from serious famine. The Government collection of revenue was made in the ordinary way and this money coming in no doubt helped to meet the demand for rupees caused by the presentation of gold. It should be noticed that notwithstanding the large increase of sovereigns in the Treasury they do not yet form any material part of the circulation to the population. By a reference to the trade return for this port, it will be seen that it also has done a large trade during the year ending in March last. The value of its total export or merchandise being 38 crores, whilst the imports, also excluding treasure, aggregate 28 crores, the results of the preceding two years being 27 and 30 crores for exports and 26 crores imports. Taking the imports by Rail and Sea of some of the principal articles I find that from 1st July to 30th June there has been received in Bombay: Wheat 37,83,000 cwts., Seeds 90,61,000 cwts. and Cotton 23,72,000 bales; whilst during the same period last year the quantities were 22,74,000 cwts., 72,62,000 cwts. and 20,41,000 bales respectively.
